I am writing this in concern over the recent action being taken against four dairymen by the EPA.

I am a dairyman and know many of the dairies in Washington State. Most of us work with NBCS over best management practices. We are concerned about our farm and the neighbors in the area and the environment on our farm and also the surrounding area. We all want a good environment, good ground water, and a good place to live. If there is a problem we should all work together to solve any problems.

I love dairying in the area, working with the help and the community I live in.

In conclusion dairy farms need to operate in a professional manner without the fear of any kinds of actions being taken against the dairy farmer.

Sincerely
